SERVICE BUREAU

OF GINN AND COMPANY'S MUSIC DEPARTMENT

OUR AIM has always been to give genuine service to music supervisors and teachers of school music, not only by helping them in the choice and use of our own publications but by putting at their disposal the wide variety of information on the many phases of school music which has come to our files. Among the questions on which we have been able to give assistance in the past are:

Orchestral selections suitable for high-school or grammar-school orchestras. We gladly furnish lists of such publications selected from the lists of all the leading music publishers.

Cantatas and school operettas. We perform a like service for this class of music.

Phonograph records. We have a tabulated list of phonograph records suitable for schools, giving composer, performer, price, and make.

Statistics and information regarding the status of school music in the different states and cities.

We invite you to come to us whenever you think we can be of assistance.

What We Hear in Music, by Anne Shaw Faulkner is a book written especially to satisfy the needs of the musical layman who wants to know more about the subject of good music as well as for the High School and College. The text introduces the reader to the elements of form, nationality and expression which underlie all music; to the development of the art, as civilization advanced; to the orchestral instruments, their development and use; and to the growth of opera and oratorio. This book ($1 at all Victor dealers) is used in conjunction with the Real Music played on the Gambleized."*

Gambleized (hinged) public school music is ideal for the pupil and for the director. A real saving for the community.

You will enjoy using octavo music with the leaves connected firmly, yet flexibly—that turn easily and lie flat.

We call the process Gambleizing.

The small charge for hinging is nothing as compared to the convenience in handling and the added life given the music.

Anything published may be had from us. Accounts solicited.
